Cattle, wealth and the local Hancock legacy

LANG Hancock was a good friend of Kingaroy's Sir Joh Bjelke-Petersen and on his visits to the South Burnett he was accompanied by daughter Gina.

Today in 2017, Gina is the cattle empress of Australia, a long way from the little five-year-old girl on a visit to Bethany.

Gina and cattle are synonymous in an industry of consequence in Australia and an industry of wealth.

China is a diner and a market of consequence for the cattle industry of Australia.
